Ed tech supports strong educators.

Engaging learners and improving student outcomes begins with charged up educators eager to innovate. At the TCEA Convention & Exposition, join thousands of educators to explore research-backed strategies and tools to provide meaningful, lasting changes for your students.

Who should attend?

The TCEA Convention & Exposition brings together PreK-16 campus and district-level educators for interactive workshops and sessions, small-group networking opportunities, and the exploration of cutting-edge resources. It provides valuable professional growth for:

- District and campus administrators
- Curriculum and instructional leaders
- Classroom teachers
- Librarians and media specialists
- CTOs and technology directors
- Ed tech supporters
- Education and technology change agents

Your registration fee includes access to keynote and featured presentations, interactive learning areas, the exhibit hall, and more than 1,000 presentations, hands-on workshops, expert-led panels, poster sessions, round table discussions, and networking opportunities.

Save the date for learning without limits! Make your plans today.
